Author Talk with local author Jeffrey R. Thomas

Owen Sound, Ontario – Thursday, July 30, 2026– Join local author Jeffrey R. Thomas for an author talk in front of the library fireplace. Friday, August 07, 2026, at 2:00 pm.

The library welcomes local author Jeffrey R. Thomas to discuss his memoir “The Broken Furrow: The Tale of a Welsh Farmer in Canada”. Thomas will present in front of the library fireplace on the Carnegie level.

In “The Broken Furrow: The Tale of a Welsh Farmer in Canada” Thomas recounts his childhood in wartime Wales to his emigration to Canada. He highlights farming, rural living and the many people he has met in his life.

Thomas says “I would like to share this memoir of my life having grown up on the family farm in Wales as tenant farmers for over five hundred years then coming to Canada to farm for years. We have lost most of this type of farming to big cash crops and I feel that food is going to be very important, especially market gardens and sheep.”

This is a free author talk. Books will be available for purchase.
